

AD ASTRA TECHNOLOGY SUMMIT 23

FlagshipKansas.Tech's award-winning Ad Astra Technology Summit is set to return to Wichita, hosted at the iconic Woolsey Hall and Charles Koch Arena on the Wichita State University campus on Monday, October 2, 2023. The summit will feature tech icon and Apple Inc. Co-founder Steve Wozniak in an evening fireside chat.

Daytime Conference Sessions, Woolsey Hall: 7:30 a.m. – 4:30 p.m.
Capacity 300

The summit aims to bring together industry leaders, startup entrepreneurs, government officials, and educators to explore and address current technology issues in various informative sessions. It will include industry panels, apprenticeship programs, and a special focus on digital skills development, which are critical for today's digital workforce. For educators, the summit will offer a full CTE credit hour, included in the cost of admission.

Evening Awards Ceremony & Keynote, Koch Arena: 6 p.m.
Doors open at 5 p.m. Capacity 6,000+

Co-founder of Apple Inc., Steve Wozniak, will be the keynote speaker in an exclusive fireside chat at Koch Arena moderated by FlagshipKansas.Tech's Immediate Past Chair Luis Rodriguez. An awards ceremony preceding the chat will highlight leaders and innovators in Kansas tech.

Who Should Go

Tech industry and tech adjacent professionals

Startup investors & entrepreneurs

Government officials

Educators – K-12, Higher Ed, Administration

High School & College Students

Tech enthusiasts

Tickets on sale at adastrasummit.tech starting at $60